Bender Has Bad Fire

The Fire Department was called out last Sunday to extinguish a fire in the house occupied by J. R. Bender, back of the St. Michaels Trading Co. store. The fire started from distillate being spilled on a hot stove which flamed up and set fire to a tank used to supply an oil burner stove, which in turn flamed up setting fire to the house. The house is owned by P. C. McCormack. The fire came near being a very disastrous one, but for the ready respond of the fire boys who extinguished it in fine shape, but only after the entire inside of the house was burned out. Mr. Bender states that his loss in clothing and personal effects is somewhere near two hundred and fifty dollars.

One thing that was made apparent at the fire is the need of some kind of regulation to keep back the crowd, as at the fire Sunday people crowded around close thereby hindering the work of the fireboys, this matter should be taken up by the authorities and some police regulations to take care of this.

When in Ketchikan spend an evening at the "The Dream," the house that sets the PACE. All others try to copy.

Happenings of the War During The Past Week

Paris, Sept. 4—The Germans continue to pour an intense fire into the center of the allies in front of this city and continue to advance in spite of all the opposition of the allies. The allies have massed their left along a line from Montdidier to Roye and from Roye to Noyon. All the cream of the allied forces in France have been placed in this line and the whole fate of the war practically lies in them. It was given out by the officials last night that the next twenty-four hours will decide the fate of the city. The city is being deserted today by everyone able to leave as much fear is felt that the Germans will enter the city.

London, Sept. 4—A great battle which will decide the second siege of Paris is in progress today. The German army is less than thirty miles from the city. It is believed here that the German army has reached the high water mark of their offence in France and that the next few hours will decide the fate of the city. All the wounded soldiers are being removed from the city.

Paris, Sept. 4—The government department was temporarily removed yesterday to Bordeaux. It is admitted today by the authorities that the advancing Germans will probably reach the outer defence of the city today once they reach there it would be impossible to leave the city and the government would be isolated in a besieged city.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 4—The name of this city was ordered changed yesterday from St. Petersburg to Petrograd. The change was ordered to eliminate the Tuen-tonic origin of the name which is demoralized Austrian alician French.

Antwerp, Sept. 4—This city is all prepared to resist the long siege that is expected as soon as the German army captures Paris.

London, Sept. 5—This city is in the worst fever of excitement today that it has ever seen, the report reached here this morning that the Germans are battering the outer defences of Paris, and in at least one place are less than twenty miles from the city and are fighting every inch of the way, in many places the army advanced twenty miles during the night. There was not a report received here all day that showed that the German advance had been checked at any point. It is believed here that Paris is isolated by all except the soldiers. There is a great feeling of pessimism among the people of London and it is believed by the majority that the city will be in the hands of the Germans tomorrow.

Paris, Sept. 5—The great German army is advancing on this city. The Germans are advancing in a great wedge shape mass and are driving the allies back by their sheer weight of numbers. In the center they have penetrated the line of defence of the allies and are about fifteen miles from the city in one place.

Paris, Sept. 5—There was a consultation on among the officials and generals of France in this city all last night to consider the surrender of the city providing the Germans get through the line of defence today. This will be done in order to avoid the destruction of the city by the artillery fire of the Germans.

Paris, Sept. 5—The reached here last night that the French Machines gave battle to the Germans at a point north of the city and the Germans withdrew. It is believed here that the Germans plan to repeat the same attack on this city as they did on Namur.

Paris, Sept. 5—German aviators kept this city in terror last night by their all night attack, as bombs fell in every part of the city all during the night.

Berlin, Sept. 5—In a report from the front it is stated that the cholera and typhoid fever has broken out among the German soldiers and the government has ordered every doctor to the front to care for the distress.
